

WHAT WE HEARD

Last-minute cancellations leave gaps, and filling them means a lot of texting back and forth.

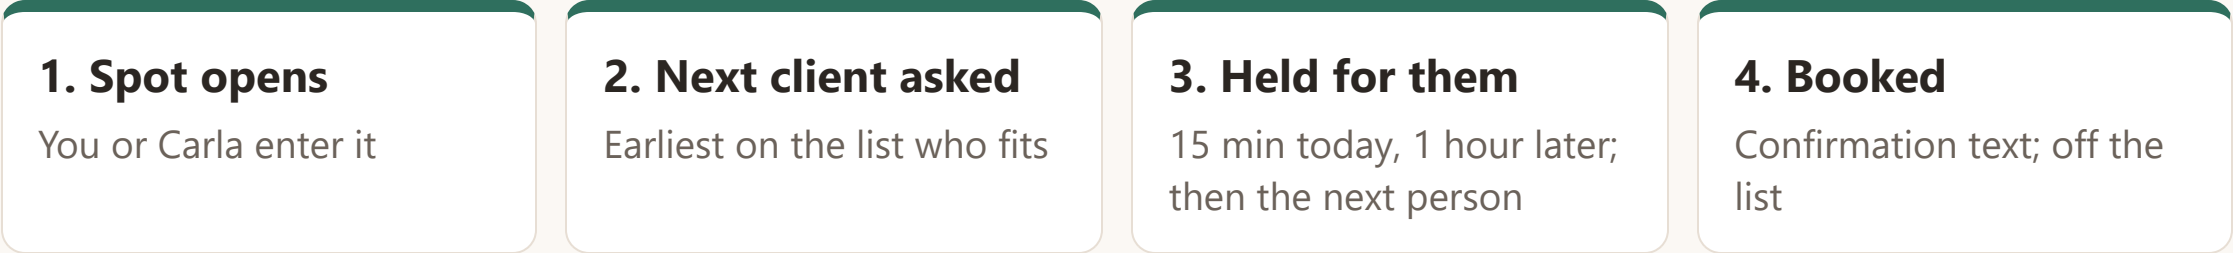

- 8 to 12 cancellations a week, most within 48 hours
- You or Carla check the Google Sheet, then text several people at once
- Someone says yes after the spot is taken, and follow-ups get forgotten when you're busy

What matters most to you

"Filling more gaps with less chasing and fewer mix-ups; avoiding mix-ups matters most."

HOW THE PROTOTYPE WORKS

One person at a time, and it keeps moving on its own.

You see who was texted, who declined or timed out, who holds it, and whether it's filled.

Lena • Mon 5 Oct, 11:00 PM • 60 min

filled

Booked: Dev Patel (Haircut) with Lena on Mon 5 Oct, 11:00 pm.

Contacted	Service	What happened	Texted	Held until
Ava Brooks	Haircut	no reply - timed out Then: said yes after their turn - told no longer available	8:06 PM	8:21 PM
Ben Carter	Haircut	said no	8:07 PM	8:22 PM
Chloe Diaz	Haircut	text failed twice - skipped
Dev Patel	Haircut	said yes - booked	8:07 PM	8:22 PM

► Not offered (5) and why

Text to Chloe Diaz (555-0199) didn't go through after a retry. Moved on to the next person.
Booked Dev Patel for haircut with Lena on Mon 5 Oct, 11:00 pm. Confirmation text sent. Lena's chair is filled.

WHEN THINGS GO WRONG

Nobody can take a spot that's already gone, and nothing waits on a busy person.

A late yes

Only the person holding the spot can book it. Once it's taken, anyone else is told it's no longer available.

A text doesn't go through

It tries once more, then moves on and tells you.

Nobody answers

It moves on by itself. If nobody takes it, you're told it couldn't be filled.

WHAT'S REAL IN THIS PROTOTYPE

The process works; the texts and clients are pretend.

Working

Order and matching, waiting, moving on, one booking only, clients texting STOP to opt out, staff stop / remove / book by hand

Simulated

Texts appear on a pretend phone, not sent. Sample clients and stylist names

Not included yet

Square and calendars not connected. Online booking, deposits, no-show fees, reports: left for later, as you asked

NEXT STEP

Try it for two weeks with real cancellations and real texts.

- We connect a texting service (for example Twilio) to send from the salon's number
- You give us stylist names and copy the Google Sheet in
- Carla enters each cancellation; we review together after two weeks

How we'll know it worked

0 mix-ups

and a count of how many of your 8 to 12 weekly cancellations get filled